Principles of Marketing

1. Marketing is defined as the activity, set of institutions and processes for creating, communicating, delivering, and exchanging offerings that have value for customers, clients, partners, and society at large. (American Marketing Association, 2013)
2. Is Marketing similar to selling ?
 - Selling is part of Marketing.
 - Marketing includes activities such as product development, research, communication, distribution, pricing and service.

3. Components of Marketing:

Product	Goods and services (creating offerings)
Price	The monetary amount charged for the product (exchange)
Promotion	Communication
Place	Getting the product to a point at which the customer can purchase it (delivering)

4. These 4Ps were known as Marketing Mix
5. Company creates Marketing Strategy based on the basis of Marketing Mix

6. Marketing Mix → Marketing Strategy (what you need to achieve)
(Overall mission and objectives) → Marketing Plan (how you achieve)

2. Generate Interest
3. Make buyer to arouse Desire and
4. Eventually influence buyer to take Action

Understanding Customer Needs or Wants → Understanding the Market

Understanding Customer Needs or Wants → Understanding the Market

1. Market is also known as Marketplace = “Place”.
2. Place (Distribution Channel), in marketing context, refers to the strategies and activities involved in making products or services available to customers in the right location, at the right time, and in the right quantity.

3. A medium that allows buyers and sellers of a specific good or service to interact in order to facilitate an exchange.

Model of the Marketing Process

Marketing Strategy – 1. Market Segmentation

Market Segmentation - Divide total market into smaller segments

Marketing Strategy – 2. Market Targeting

- Select 1 or few market segments to work or concentrating marketing efforts on one or a few selected segments

Marketing Strategy – 3. Market Positioning

Market position refers to the consumer's perception of a brand or product in relation to competing brands or products. Market positioning refers to the process of establishing the image or identity of a brand or product so that consumers perceive it in a certain way.

Marketing Strategy – 4. Market Differentiation

Differentiation in marketing means creating specialized products/services that gain competitive advantage with a particular segment of the market

Example

When using market differentiation, a manufacturer might produce several variations on a basic product to be marketed under the same brand in order to give itself a greater range of coverage and hence promote a sense of dominance within that market

Marketing Strategy – 5. SWOT Analysis

1. Strengths and Weaknesses are controllable factors.
2. Opportunities and Threats are uncontrollable factors

Designing a Comprehensive Marketing Strategy → Marketing Plan

Marketing management is the art and science of choosing target markets and getting, keeping and growing customers through creating, delivering, and communicating superior customer value (Kotler and Keller, 2008)

→ Marketing plan should do the following:

- a. Identify customers' needs.
- b. Evaluate whether the organization can meet those needs in some way that allows for profitable exchanges with customers to occur.
- c. Develop a mission statement, strategy, and organization centred on those needs.
 1. Create offerings that are the result of meticulous market research.
 2. Form operations and supply chains that advance the successful delivery of those offerings.
- d. Pursue advertising, promotional and public relations campaigns that lead to continued successful exchanges between the company and its customers.
- e. Engage in meaningful communications with customers on a regular basis.

Learning Outcome:

Differentiate the various types of listing and its importance.

Method of Sale

Private Treaty

1. Privacy – can withhold sensitive information from public
2. Low Cost – marketing, administration etc
3. Flexibility to draft terms between 2 parties
4. Direct Negotiation
5. Time flexibility to buy and sell
6. Multiple Viewings → Close Deal

Auction

1. Transparent – Open Bidding (High Publicity)
2. High Cost
3. Fix Terms & Conditions Seller & Buyer
4. Rules out shoppers → Likely Genuine Buyers
5. Creates Competition → Sense of Urgency
6. Protect by Reserve Price
7. No cooling off period → Immediate Sale
8. Negative Publicity if property is not sold

Public Tender (Open)

Tender → Refer to Next Slide

Private Tender (Close)

Note:
Both type of tenders → Costly

Public Tender

1. Offers an equal opportunity to any organisation to submit a tender
2. Open, fair and free from bribery and nepotism
3. Creating opportunities for new or emerging players
4. Provides greatest competition among suppliers
5. Separate unfair advantage of prior or closed-door negotiations for the contract
6. Not all those who bid may be suitable for the contract and more time is required to evaluate the tenders
7. May not award to highest bidder

Private Tender

1. Allows suppliers to submit tenders by invitation
2. Prevent smaller or newer companies from participating
3. Appropriate for specialist or complex contracts for suitable companies
4. Due to track record
5. May subject to bribery or nepotism

1. Advertise correct property usage as approved by URA (Master Plan)

Be clear on units marketed as Soho, URA tells developers

The Cape (above) is one of Far East Organization's Soho developments. But the URA says "Soho" does not signify any official planning status. - PHOTO: FAR EAST ORGANIZATION

A real estate agent has come under fire for placing on the windscreen of a car a flier designed to look like a parking summons.

In a post on Facebook page Complaint Singapore Unrestricted on Saturday, an anonymous person wrote: "Got this on my windscreen. I must say that this is very lame and not funny at all! No driver likes to see this kind of joke on their windscreen!"

"And you jolly well don't litter with your cheap marketing gimmick on our cars! If it rains, this will stick on to the windscreen!"

The flier, bearing the contact details of real estate agent Shahirah Shaik from Singapore Realtors Inc (SRI), was designed to look like a parking summons, with the heading "notice of no offence".

The Council for Estate Agencies is aware of the matter and is looking into it. PHOTO: COMPLAINT SINGAPORE UNRESTRICTED/FACEBOOK
